

The Security Officer of the Future

what value do I get from question. It is important to take a balanced approach when reviewing the benefits of security system integration and design a system that has the right elements for each location. To do this, a careful review of the facility, security policies and procedures, technology and personnel is necessary.

Creating a security solution where all of the pieces work together is essential to creating a safe and secure environment regardless of how simple or complex and often our first line of defense against many threats. We must continue to be proactive about developing programs and solutions that can help them perform at their best.

The development of meaningful security protocols has changed significantly in

This revolution of change in the security officer and the security industry is incredible. Our security officers are well-enforcement and military personnel. Our security officers are better equipped and better respected. And the security industry leaders have raised the bar on training, wages and benefits. As the need for security has increased, our men and woman have stepped up and are meeting that need.

er, he or she is technologically savvy and committed to continual training. The security officer of the future is working at your facility today. Security officers are our first line of defense and work tirelessly for our protection. Behind the public face of the security officer lives an expertly prepared and ever vigilant security professional who is well-trained and supported by cutting edge, integrated technology.